

WINNING RUN IN ELEVENTH

Goddard Defeated Montpelier High School, 5 to 4, at Intercity Park

MERRILL WAS HERO OF REAL SMART GAME

Besides Batting Well, He Filled the First Base Position Very Acceptably

"Freddie" Merrill, the modest first baseman of Goddard seminary, was the hero of a 5 to 4 victory against Montpelier high school yesterday afternoon at Intercity park. Merrill proved to be the man of the hour and when things assumed a gloomy outlook for the seminary he uncoiled a ripping three-bagger into deep left field, permitting Witt to amble home from first, where he was stationed when Coach Hoernle flew the signals for the hit and run game. When Merrill cannonaded Pitcher Laird, the game had nearly reached the wind-up; two men had checked in and if Merrill had been found wanting, the game would have been terminated with no result by the impending darkness.

A prominent place has also been reserved in the hall of fame at Goddard for Roy Cosby, who was pronounced into the battle to assume command of the battle when Pitcher Tierney was taken out during the smoky ninth inning when the Montpelier ash-heavers were pressing closely and threatening to annihilate the seminary aggregation. The strain of the campaign was commencing to be noticeable on Pitcher Tierney, who had twirled masterful ball until the eighth session, when four runs were piled up against him. Two men were decorating the baselines and with but one out in the ninth, distress signals were visible to the advisory committee of the seminary and Tierney treaded the path to the dugout. Cosby fanned the next batter and then compelled Smith to rocket an easy fly to Farrell. During the final two innings, although the lads from the capital city explored the base zones, Cosby, with complacency, steamed up and pulled his mates cleverly out of bad holes.

Goddard made inroads on Montpelier in the second inning by placing a row of four digits in the run total column and held this commanding lead until the eighth inning, when Montpelier evened the score by manufacturing a like number of four counters. The game then dragged into extra innings and was not disturbed until that individual Merrill sent the seminary stands into pandemonium. Nearly all the runs made by both teams were of the earned variety.

The batting features of the extra session affair were divided among Witt, Merrill and Tierney for Goddard. Witt paved the way for the scoring by opening the second with a double into right field. Tierney brought in the first two scores with a clean single. It was Merrill's timely bingle that resulted in a victory for the local school. Jim Laird and Fred Laird played conspicuous parts in the scoring faction of the lads from Montpelier. Pitcher Laird walloped a hard drive over centerfield fence, scoring the first brace of runs and to a long single by Fred Laird can be attributed the other runs made by Montpelier.

Coach Hoernle ushered a rather weak outfit onto the field. Owing to the inability of Capt. Peterson to go into the rifle pit, all hopes were pinned to Tierney, who previous to the Hardwick game last Saturday had gained but little publicity as a moundman. Tierney went through successfully until the eighth chapter, when Montpelier opened up a new page and set their artillery in rapid action.

L. Laird, the moundman of the capital city team, was effective all through with the exception of the second inning. After that disastrous session he settled down and displayed a remarkable array of curves and speed. He succeeded Scoring in Bunches.

In the second Witt drove a bit into deep right field. He advanced to third when J. Laird was unsuccessful in attempting to head him off at third on Merrill's bunt in front of the plate. Merrill straightway paroled second. Tierney aided his cause by pounding a lawn cutter between third and short, both base runners reaching the terminus. Tierney then played the part of thief. Ford hit to Shortstop Perkins, who threw wildly to third base in trying to nip Tierney. Tierney walked across the rubber as the ball rolled towards the third base bleachers. Bishop was declared out for bunting on the third strike. Aldrich fanned but the diminutive LaCasse came across with a punch into center field, scoring Ford, who had previously perched on the middle cushion.

John Washington Jefferson Hancock was the victim of fortune in the eighth inning. The Montpelier centerfielder reached first base when LaCasse lost his bearings in fielding his bunt. Perkins was out, but "Jim" Laird connected with one of Tierney's speed balls and sent the ball over the fence and into the foam of Stevens branch. Smith, the next batter, helped the chances of the Montpelier clan by hitting to center for two sacks. Bartlett was passed. Fred Laird pounded a grooved ball to center field fence. Smith counted, as did Bartlett from first, after a clever piece of base running. Montpelier scored no more. In the final half of the eleventh inning, Witt reached the initial station when Bartlett fumbled his grounder and Merrill turned the trick with a three-ply knock. The score:

The appearance of Joe Feeley behind the plate instilled confidence into the Goddard team. With Feeley at the helm, directing their destinies, the seminary aggregation once more showed their true form, after a few weeks' stay on the toboggan slide. Feeley injured one of the fingers of his throwing hand at Burlington several weeks ago and had not been able to don the mask until yesterday. His absence had a demoralizing effect on the wearers of the red and white.

Laurels were accorded to Freddie H. Merrill not alone for his hitting ability, but in recognition of his exhibition around first base. Merrill accepted cleanly the twenty-four chances afforded to test his ability. A rather unique feature is attached to his work in the field. Out of six trips to the plate Henry Laird, catcher, grounded out to Merrill. Many of the grounders were of a difficult nature, notably the final sizzler.

Little Oramel Ford played a conspicuous part in the game. His work in center field brought the spectators to their feet. He executed one meritorious put-out in the tenth inning, preventing his opponents from scoring by a beautiful running catch.

"Jack" Bartlett, the Montpelier second sacker, is an excellent basketball and football player, but is lacking in several of the requisites of a first class ball player. Bartlett was unable to fathom the curves of the Goddard pitchers, and it was his fielding error that eventuated in a Goddard victory. Bartlett is sorely lacking of experience.

The loss of Capt. Peterson is keenly felt by the Goddard team. Peterson is the best pitcher at the school and had been looked forward to handling the major share of the important games. Peterson went into the Hardwick game last Saturday without preliminary practice. He was called in during the middle of the game. After throwing but a few balls he retired. The big fellow is now under the care of physicians, who daily treat his throwing arm. It is doubtful if he will be able to appear on the little hillock again this season.

Jack Johnson, the world's champion heavyweight fighter, is dead broke and wants to find a way to raise enough money to pay the fine recently imposed by the courts. Johnson asked for a sixty day stay of his fine and he has written to Calgary, Alberta, to see if arrangements could be made for a match between him and Luther McCarthy.

The annual New England Intercollegiate track meet will be staged at the Harvard stadium, Cambridge, on Saturday. Dartmouth, as usual, is the ruling favorite of the meet. Dartmouth expects to place nine in a majority of the events scheduled for the meet. Dartmouth's selections for the 100 yard event are Llewellyn and Olson. Four vaulters of high calibre will be taken along with the teams. Marc Wright, the holder of the world's record for the pole vault, is captaining the Hanover team. The state of Maine is expected to stack a fine array of track talent against the field on Saturday.

Clark Griffith has ceased to worry over the Red Sox hindering him in his championship aspiration. He now figures that the only club that stands in his way is the Philadelphia outfit. He has seen Boston play and closely followed their work around the circuit. He considered them as out of it.

Big Falkenberg, the Cleveland pitcher, is one of the sensations of the season. The lengthy man has already won eight straight victories. He was formerly a member of the Washington American pitching staff and, being found wanting, was shipped to the minors. Cleveland counts him the freight to see his fall worth and immediately snapped him up. It has been Falkenberg's wonderful pitching that has tended to keep the Naps at the head of the American league race.

Carlstrom, who was tried out by the Boston Red Sox at the opening of the season, is now back at his regular berth, taking care of shortstop for the Lawrence aggregation.

RUSHING THE TARIFF

Good Progress Made by the Finance Committee

TWO SCHEDULES ARE COMPLETED

Sub-Committee Makes Minor Changes in Underwood Bill

Washington, May 21.—A majority of the Senate finance committee held their first meeting yesterday to hear preliminary reports from the sub-committees working on the tariff bill and suggesting revisions for approval of the entire committee and the Democratic caucus. Senator Stone reported that the metal schedule practically had been completed, by his sub-committee, but that it was being considered a second time with the aid of an expert from the customs appraisers' office in New York. Some changes in the schedule have been made, but it is believed they are not of such a character as to arouse the opposition of the House Democrats. Senator Johnson reported that the chemical schedule had been finished by his sub-committee and that about thirty changes had been made, affecting chiefly dyes used in the manufacture of cotton goods. No reports were made relating to sugar and wool. The entire committee had under consideration the administrative changes suggested by Assistant Attorney General Denison and Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Curtis relative to preventing undervaluations and the procuring of values by the secretary of the treasury.

2,995 WERE KILLED BY ACCIDENT

Defective Railroad Equipment Is Blamed By Commerce Board for Increase in Deaths.

Washington, May 21.—Defective railroad equipment and tracks were responsible for 68 per cent. of all derailments in the United States during July, August and September, 1912, and during those three months there were 934 more train accidents, including 901 more collisions and derailments than there were during the same months of 1911.

All train accidents on steam roads during that time killed 288 and injured 4,398, an increase of 87 in the killed and 315 over the injured during the corresponding period of the year before.

These facts are disclosed in the accident bulletin of the interstate commerce commission for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1912.

Accidents of other kinds, including those sustained by employees while at work, not including industrial accidents, make the number of casualties 2,995 killed and 22,447 injured, a total increase of 237 killed and 3,340 injured. The damage to equipment and roadway by the accidents aggregated $3,366,401, a large increase.

It was found by the commission that of the derailments, 10 per cent. were due to broken rails and 31 per cent. to defective wheels.

Casualties due to "industrial accidents"—such as are not involved in train operations—amounted to 114 killed and 28,884 injured, a decrease of 17 killed and an increase of 5,231 injured.

DIAZ SILENT ON PRESIDENCY TALK

Bill Going to Congress to Prevent States from Passing Laws Which May Affect Treaties.

Washington, May 21.—Representative Barthold of Missouri announced yesterday that he proposed to introduce next Friday a resolution to empower Congress to legislate exclusively on all questions affecting the rights of aliens residing in the United States. The purpose of the measure would be to prevent individual states from passing laws which might cause friction with foreign countries. Lack of federal control, he said, affecting the ability of the government to carry out a treaty in all its integrity, was a palpable effect.

One-cent postage for letters after July 1, 1914, was proposed in a resolution yesterday by Representative Rouse of Kentucky.

Progress in the work of revamping the tariff bill by the Democrats of the Senate finance committee was signaled by the announcement that the chemical schedule, the first of the bill, is practically ready for the caucus.

Democratic Leader Underwood has called a meeting of the Democratic members for Thursday, to begin the task of assigning the members of the House to committee places.

Senator O'Gorman has introduced a bill to amend the judicial code so that circuit judges of the United States may be transferred in case of necessity. It would provide that when calendars are crowded and business becomes congested in one court a judge whose calendar is light may be sent to the congested circuit.

Somewhat lighter in weight and much lighter in spirits, Representative Gardner has returned from an outing in Virginia, where he had spent several days in the wilds. "I went all alone," said Mr. Gardner, "and lived in a tent all the time." Further than this, he did his own cooking.

Lots of Butter and Prices Firm, Egg Prices Little Changed.

Boston, May 21.—The local butter market is firm at unchanged prices. Receipts continue large, but there is a fairly good demand, and as a good deal of stock is going into storage, the market keeps well cleaned up. Storing butter at this time of the year and at present prices seems pretty risky, because the butter going away is not as good as that which will come along later and it costs about 20@30c. It is probably better butter than will be available during the warmest part of the summer or late in the fall, and it is at one or the other of these periods that it will come on the market.

The cheese market is a shade firmer; as old goods are pretty well used up, there is a better demand for new cheese, especially for the best grades. Firmer advices from the country also tend to strengthen the views of the dealers. Eggs keep well cleaned up and prices are firmly maintained.

Butter—Fancy northern creamery, tubs 31@31½c, boxes 32@32½c, print 32½@33c; fancy western creamery, in tubs, 30@31c, good to choice creamery, 29@30½c.
